McKinney claims Adams Cup, Stieffel is Sears runner-up

By RICH ADAMS

Judy McKinney of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club claimed the Adams Cup Women's North American Sailing Championship Sunday as she and her crew finished second in the final series at Lake Ponchartrain Sunday.

Last week another Bay-Waveland Yacht Club member, Dennis Stieffel, finished second in the Sears Cup Finals of the United States Junior Sailing Championship at the Cleveland Yacht Club to win the Judge's Trophy for Runner-Up Crew in that series.

The Bay-Waveland Yacht Club is the only club in the country known to have two national champions among its members this year.

McKinney and her crew, Amy Chapman and Charlotte Gordon, defeated six other Adams Cup finalists crewed by the best women sailors in the nation.

McKinney is a college math teacher in Pomona, California, and spends her summers in Bay St. Louis with her husband Jim, also a college math professor.

In 1977, McKinney and Chapman were crewmembers for Cindy Stieffel, winning the Adams Cup that year.

In 1978 the trio finished third in the event.

McKinney and Dennis Stieffel recently crewed the ship 'No Respect' to a fourth place finish in the North America Championships.

Last week Stieffel and his Bay-Waveland Yacht Club crew finished second to John Shadden of Long Beach, SAILORS—Page 5A

Management firms studying hospital

By EDGAR PEREZ

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors Tuesday night took a 'wait-and-see' posture regarding developments at Hancock General Hospital.

Hospital Administrator Harry Gilmore addressed the board at its August meeting Tuesday, urging the chamber "... to go on record supporting the hospital whether I'm administrator or not."

Gilmore stressed the need for community support if the hospital is to succeed, regardless of management changes which may be in the offing.

He told the chamber board four management firms are touring and surveying the hospital this week preliminary to deciding whether to offer proposals on taking over operation of the facility.

Firms eyeing management of Hancock General are Qualicare which manages Coast Community Hospital in Biloxi; Hospital Affiliates International of Nashville, Tenn.; Hospital Corporation of America; and Brookwood Associates which owns Garden Park Hospital in Gulfport.

Gilmore said Qualicare officials were at Hancock General Tuesday and the others were slated to inspect the hospital later this week.

"They've done their homework, they had a copy of every recent article printed about the hospital," Gilmore said.

He explained a management firm, if selected to run the hospital, would likely furnish the administrator, director of nurses and perhaps a comptroller.

"Otherwise, they will work with the people already there, they are not looking to disturb any operation which is working well, Gilmore added.

The administrator noted some time has passed since the Joint Commission on Hospital Accreditation cancelled a planned re-evaluation of the facility and promised to re-schedule its inspection within two weeks.

"But if they were to come through right now, I'm certain we would get a two-year accreditation," Gilmore stated when board members asked if deficiencies the commission cited earlier had been corrected.

Earlier this year the hospital lost its accreditation from the commission.

"We have put full faith and effort into correcting those deficiencies," Gilmore said.

Gilmore emphasized the hospital's board of directors "... is not intending to sell or lease the hospital."

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has assigned CETA workers to the hospital who are currently involved in giving the facility a face lift through painting.

Gilmore said he also hopes to replace old blinds with new draperies.

"Once this renovation is complete, we plan to hold an open house," he said.

"For instance, we have equipment here not normally seen in a hospital this size. We want the people of the county to see this hospital - it's their hospital," he exclaimed.

Gilmore expressed regret hospital plans to add a public relations official to its staff have never been fulfilled.

"A public relations person could have eased us through this recent crisis - a crisis which is not over yet," Gilmore feels.

He said the hospital is still short of nurses, but added two new doctors are practicing in this area.

Dr. Bertrand Sy, a pediatrician, has joined the hospital staff, Gilmore noted, and Dr. William H. Hill, cardiologist, is in the process of setting up practice in the offices formerly occupied by the late Dr. N.G. Elchos on Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis.

HGH directors meet with doctors

By RICH ADAMS

The Hancock General Hospital Board of Trustees and its medical staff conducted a special meeting Tuesday night to discuss four companies being considered for a management contract, according to Rev. Charles Johnson, board president.

"We called a special meeting with the medical staff to discuss things in general. We did not discuss anything in specific, so we took no action," Johnson said Wednesday afternoon.

Johnson said four hospital management companies were discussed at the meeting, noting a fourth has been added since a meeting Aug. 19 when the board requested Qualicare Management Co. of New Orleans, La.; Hospital Corporation of America's Management Co. of Nashville, Tenn.; and Hospital Management Affiliates, also of Nashville, to study the Hancock County facility.

The board president said Brookwood Associates of Birmingham, Ala. has also been requested to survey the hospital and make an offer to take over management.

"We have not received any bids yet. Qualicare conducted its survey Tuesday," Johnson said.

"Hospital Management Affiliates made its survey today, and HCA will be here Thursday or Friday," he continued.

"Brookwood will make a survey next week," Johnson added.

The Birmingham-based management company is currently managing Garden Park Community Hospital in Gulfport.

Animal home still homeless

Dog bite victims shoulder 10-day quarantine burden

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

If a Hancock County resident is bitten by a stray animal no local facilities are available to house and isolate the stray for rabies observation.

The Bay-Waveland Humane Society hopes to provide such facilities in a proposed city-county operated pound, but Society Vice President C.J. Dumestre of Waveland said Tuesday no suitable site for the pound has yet been found.

Consider the plight of Flat Top Community resident Barbara Rowan—Rowan's eight-year-old daughter was recently bitten on the arm by a stray mongrel dog.

"My daughter was playing in our yard when a stray dog wandered in and began fighting with our Doberman pinscher," the Flat Top resident reported.

Rowan said her German shepard was going to join the fight, but when her daughter, who was playing in the yard, attempted to restrain the shepard the stray dog bit the child.

"My daughter was bitten underneath her elbow—enough for about five stitches," she stated.

However, Rowan said doctors could not sew up the wounds due to possible infection resulting from the dog bite.

After taking her daughter for doctor's treatment she called the County Sheriff's Department to seek assistance.

"A dispatcher told me to hold the dog

Bay mayor sees litter citywide

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Mayor Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis sees his city's litter problem resulting from local citizen's lack of "pride" and "self respect."

Bennett's Tuesday comments were in response to reports of an increasing litter problem in the downtown area of the city.

"We have a trash problem all over the city. We're limited as to what we can do," the mayor reported.

"It's a shame in such a modern time people don't have more respect for themselves or the city," Bennett stated. The mayor said he has a five-man crew, directed by Parks and Playgrounds Supervisor Billy Rhodes, charged with maintaining city grounds and streets.

Rhodes was unavailable for comment Wednesday.

"Right now we have a crew constantly cleaning streets, two men watering plants in our parks and another man operating a bushhog," Bennett reported.

"It's a never ending battle. If we picked up every can and piece of paper in the downtown area right now, you could drive down there the next day and the same amount of trash would be there again," the mayor explained.

"People have no more pride," he added. Bennett cited when an old stove was dumped last year near the US-90 bridge.

"If people weren't so thoughtless we could increase our planting of shrubs and trees throughout the city and keep our streets clean," Bennett said.

The mayor reported its a daily occurrence to find litter on City Hall's front lawn.

"Along the beach we're plagued with bottles and cans..." Bennett stated.

The mayor sees no immediate reprieve from the litter problem because the high school summer work program, which added several members to the parks and playgrounds crew, has ended for this year.

Suspect captured after escape from police

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A local man facing multiple charges escaped from Bay St. Louis Police headquarters Friday night through a rear room window and was apprehended some 45 minutes later at his residence.

Everett Mitchell, 22, of 212 Main St., Bay St. Louis was scheduled for hearing before City Judge Joseph Benvenuti Wednesday night.

Hancock County jail records he is charged with assault and battery with intent to do bodily harm; breaking and entering; public nuisance; possession of a controlled substance, paraphernalia and stolen property; burglary; grand larceny; possession of marijuana; destroying private property and escape.

Police Investigator Matt Karl reported Wednesday morning. "We received a call at about 6:30 p.m. Friday that a man was walking along Blaize Avenue near Benigno's Package Liquor Store with some sort of rifle."

"Patrolman Gordon Campbell and I responded to the call and after arriving at the scene were unable to locate the subject," Karl stated.

The investigator said descriptions of the gun toting man by eye witnesses led to the arrest of Mitchell at his home.

"We charged Mitchell with public nuisance, assault and battery with intent to do bodily harm, and breaking and entering," Karl reported.

Karl said the additional charges resulted from witness reports that Mitchell was seen breaking into an apartment owned by Darrell Turner above the Coppernote Lounge, also on Blaize Avenue near the liquor store.

The investigator said a 30-30 Winchester rifle valued at $2,000 was stolen from the second floor apartment.

Mitchell also allegedly threatened an unknown man earlier Friday.

"During questioning at police headquarters Mitchell used rest room, but before he did we handcuffed his hands in front of him," Karl explained.

Karl said after Mitchell was in the rest room several minutes he checked the door and it was locked.

"After receiving no response from Mitchell we broke down the door and found he had escaped out of the window," Karl stated.

The investigator said some 45 minutes later Auxiliary Patrolman Michael Lee recaptured Mitchell in front of his Main Street residence.

"He had already removed the handcuffs from his wrists," Karl added.

Karl said the Mitchell walked out of the house carrying the rifle and a box containing needles and pills.

He was then charged with escape and possession of a controlled substance. Mitchell is in Hancock County jail under $40,000 bond.

Identification of the pills found is pending laboratory analysis.

JACKSON BALCH

A graveside service for Jackson M. Balch, 64, former manager of the National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County was held Tuesday at the Live Oak Cemetery in Pass Christian.

Mr. Balch, a Pass Christian resident, died after a heart attack early Monday at Memorial Hospital at Gulfport.

A resident of the Coast since 1965, he guided the building of NSTL, where the Apollo Saturn V rocket boosters that sent the first Americans to the moon were successfully tested.

He was instrumental in transforming NSTL (formerly the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Mississippi Test Facility) into a multiagency center at a time when the installation was expected to be closed.

Balch moved in the early morning hours after Hurricane Camille in 1969 to organize and commit the entire facility for immediate relief of the Coast communities hit hardest.

He later worked with state and federal officials to organize the Camille recovery plan.

In late 1967, Balch conceived the idea of turning NSTL into a center where several agencies could work together at a single location.

He worked to get the U.S. Oceanographic Center, the U.S. Army Ammunition Plant, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the U.S. Geological Survey and other federal and state agencies to locate at NSTL.

Balch served as a special assistant to the governor of Mississippi after his retirement in 1975.

He was an environmentalist and was coordinator of a coastwide wastewater treatment system at the time of his death.

A native of Huntsville, Ala., Balch was a technical assistant to the late Dr. Werner von Braun before accepting assignment as head of NSTL.

He served on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff during World War II and was a retired general in the Alabama National Guard.

He received a degree in engineering from Trinity College in Dublin, Ireland, and a master of arts in economics from the University of North Carolina. He studied business and engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Survivors include his wife, Janet D. Balch, Pass Christian; four sons, Arthur Balch, Jackson M. Balch Jr. and Victor Balch, all of Pass Christian, and Michael Balch, New Orleans; two daughters, Mrs. Gibson (Jane) Smith Jr., Charlotte, N.C., and Mrs. Margaret Kelly, Houston, Texas; a brother, Dr. Henry H. ## Have we lost respect for others?

We had a conversation Tuesday morning with a couple of our senior citizens who were very much upset about an incident which happened to them earlier in the morning.

This couple was fishing in the Jourdan River at the mouth of Bayou La Croix at 7:30 a.m. when a large boat pulling water skiers almost sunk them.

The impact was so hard that it knocked the glasses off the lady and she was fortunate enough that they fell into the bottom of their boat.

We have fished many times in the Jourdan River, and we have at times seen careless operation by boat operators, some with skiers and others just riding around.

Someone could drown from the wake of a fast moving boat and more respect should be given to persons fishing.

We know there are very many boat users who respect fishermen when they are passing, but all it takes is a few operators with no respect to cause someone to be killed.

We hope the authorities will take the proper action in enforcing the law against those who have no respect for others.

It is not funny at all to be fishing and be almost thrown out of the boat and soaked from head to foot at 7:30 a.m.

Bits 'n pieces

The whole county is talking about Judge Stewart's ordering the removal Friday of junked cars from US-90.

Many members of the Chamber of Commerce say they are really glad to see the action taken. Their determined effort has proved to be productive.

It is a project which the chamber has been working on for several years and many thought nothing would ever be done.

The State Attorney General's office and the Mississippi State Highway Department should be commended for their efforts in pursuing the junked vehicle matter and enforcing the federal and state 'Junkyard Control' Law.

We realize there are other violations of the junk car law in Hancock County and have been told proper action will be taken against those in violation.

The Waveland Civic Association members are again in for a full weekend with the annual fireworks display and Jerry Lewis Telethon.

The fireworks display will be Sunday night at 8:30 p.m. and is in part sponsored by the City of Waveland.

If you want to see a nice display of fireworks, we suggest dropping by the Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier.

Normally large crowds line the beach to take in the spectacular display of fireworks, thanks to the Waveland Civic Association and City of Waveland.

The annual Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy telethon will be from 5 p.m. Sunday through 6 p.m. Monday.

Members, wives and friends of the civic association will be manning the telephones continuously seeking pledges for a very important cause.

WGNO, TV Channel 26, New Orleans as well as local radio station WXGR will be carrying reports from Waveland's drive.

We wish J.A. Lagasse Jr., chairman for the local telethon, a banner year in pledges for muscular dystrophy.

We all know that this will be a long weekend with Labor Day on Monday.

We would like to urge all to be extra careful in traveling and whatever activities we may be involved in for the festivities. Have a nice weekend.

GREETING TOURISTS—Litter, dirt and weeds in the gutters and broken sidewalks will be the first thing tourists see at the starting point for the Bay St. Louis Downtown Walking Tour near the corner of Main Street and Beach Boulevard. Although Mayor Larry Bennett cited a litter problem throughout the city, we hope something can be done in this area of town to make a good impression on people making this tour of some of our historical buildings.

THE ENDANGERED RIGHT

The framers of the U.S. Constitution would be hard pressed to understand some of the changes that have taken place in modern American thought.

One of the changes currently being espoused by certain groups has to do with private ownership of property - a fundamental right and freedom guaranteed Americans by their heritage.

Some social property enthusiasts today view property as belonging to the public, for the good of the people. A report funded by the Rockefeller Foundation titled "Task force on Land Use Control" recently stated:

"We need to change the policy of allowing property owners to think they can do what they want with their land merely because it's theirs. Owners must realize that whatever rights they have in land they happen to own are rights accorded to them by society."

A basic interdependence exists between freedom and the right to own property - neither could have meaning without the other.

The Mississippi Economic Council, through its American Enterprise Center, believes that we need to recommit ourselves to the fundamental foundations of our freedoms - that unique system known as American enterprise.

The AEC is working toward this goal by promoting a better understanding of the free enterprise system among all Mississippians. For more information, contact the American Enterprise Center, Box 1849, Jackson, MS 39205.

Restricting gym use to varsity sports an archaic policy

Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir,

I read in the Sea Coast Echo July 27, a statement made by Hancock North Central School Principal Donald Hillman, that new classrooms were necessary because of the tremendous number of students in the Physical Education classes.

He stated - that the Physical Education classes were going to tear up the gym floor.

I cannot believe that we, the taxpayers, are paying for a school facility which our children cannot use.

In all the neighboring schools a facility is used to serve the majority of the students.

You would think that with the tremendous number of students who are interested in Physical Education, that they would be given top priority.

However, at Hancock North Central we place emphasis on basketball, through which we are meeting the needs of only a handful of students.

There are only 15 players on a ball club, and if your child doesn't have the potential and ability to be a ball player, then your child doesn't have access to the gym, which we taxpayers are paying for.

I feel it a necessity to re-evaluate our program and meet the needs of the majority of students.

How about it, taxpayers.

Concerned,

Dear Editor,

Well, that time is around again to reach down in your pockets and help the United Way.

Without their help I won't know what all of the Senior Citizens would do.

Also, we must not forget our mayor and council for fixing the electric in our ceramics building.

Our thanks go out to all of the officials in City Hall.

Hancock General Hospital ahead in patient care comparison

Aug. 25, 1980

Sea Coast Echo

Dear Editors,

On the 21st of this month, I was admitted to Hancock General Hospital to have surgery the next day.

Since that day, I have been under the care of Dr. Levens, Drs. George and David Byrne and Dr. Lee.

I would like to take this time to praise the entire staff of Hancock General Hospital for the excellent care I have received and continue to receive here.

To have been a patient elsewhere has made me appreciate our wonderful hospital that much more.

Sincerely,
Mr. Doris Ladner

Barrier Islands Bill makes fiscal, environmental sense

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

The nation was spared when Hurricane Allen lost its fury before it hit the south Texas coast and passed the highly populated areas in Mississippi and Louisiana.

This brings to focus the worthiness and timeliness of the Barrier Islands Bill now pending before the U.S.

Congress.

The Bill which has cleared subcommittee hearings in the House (HR-5981) and the Senate (S-2686), would preserve only the undeveloped barrier islands and would not affect already developed islands in any way at all.

In Mississippi and Louisiana, it would affect less than 2,700 and 9,800 acres, respectively.

Although it is very small acreage, these areas are highly significant habitat for endangered and threatened wildlife, public recreation, education and research, and hurricane protection.

In Mississippi, HR-5981 and S-2686 would affect only Cat Island.

It has been estimated that the fee simple purchase of undeveloped barrier islands would be five times more economical for the nation's taxpayers than continuing federally subsidized issuance of federal grants, loans, flood insurance, and all kinds of permits for incompatible development of undeveloped barrier islands. It would establish priorities for acquisition of the islands and funding limits.

The Barrier Island Bill (HR-5981 and S-2686) makes fiscal as well as environmental sense. Please write to your congressional representatives.

Correspondence should be sent to Representative Trent Lott, and Senators Thad Cochran and John Stennis at the following address: U.S. House of Representatives or U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Urge them to support the passage of this bill to save your tax dollars when they meet after the summer recess.

Sincerely,

In addition, an osteopath is considering joining the HGH staff, Gilmore revealed.

Also at Tuesday's meeting, the chamber board approved contribution of $150 to the Hancock County Chapter, American Red Cross, for purchase of an emergency radio channel scanner for the chapter's mobile unit.

Jerry Benigno, chamber executive secretary, said a quarterly breakfast is slated for 7:30 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 18 at Sirloin Stockade in Waveland.

Featured speaker at the breakfast will be Dr. Marvin White, president of Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville.

The board also voted to seek Governor William Winter as featured speaker at the chamber's annual membership banquet Dec. 5.

The chamber will host a coffee reception from 8 to 10 a.m. Sept. 15 at Diamondhead for participants in a 16th Section Land Management Conference sponsored by the Hancock County School District and Terrell Randolph's 16th Section management firm.

The board voted commendation of the actions of Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Bay St. Louis City Council and Waveland Board of Aldermen in supporting a city-county animal shelter.

The board will invite officials of the Hancock County Humane Society to address its September meeting on progress of the proposed facility.

Calif. in the Sears Cup Finals.

Asked how he felt being skipper of the second best junior sailing crew in the nation Tuesday, the shy Stieffel simply commented, "It's great."

"I have been sailing for 12 or 13 years," the 17-year-old St. Stanislaus senior added.

Stieffel and his crew, Janet Gordon and Ford Gaudin, won the opening race of the series with Shadden finishing third.

In the second race, the California crew finished first and the Bay-Waveland trio came in third. Tied for first in the third race, the rival teams moved out front until the wind stilled, shifting to another direction and moving the remainder of the fleet past them.

With a win in the fourth race, Shadden took the lead. Although Stieffel finished ahead of the California craft in the fifth event and won the seventh series, Shadden held his lead and increased it with the win in the eighth race.

The eight-race round robin series was sailed on Lake Erie in 'thistles,' 17-foot planing centerboard sloops, which the local crew had never used until the semi-finals in Atlanta, Ga.

Jim Johnson of Mobile, Ala., a long-time competitor in thistle craft, offered his boat to the Bay-Waveland crew in which to practice.

After Stieffel and Johnson won the thistle class of the Five Flags Regatta in Pensacola, Fla., the Bay-Waveland Sears Cup contenders spent many hours on the Bay of St. Louis practicing their roll tacks and spinnaker work, generally getting used to the feel of the craft, Stieffel said.

Earlier this summer the local team qualified for the finals by winning the Gulf Yachting Association Championship at Southern Yacht Club in New Orleans, La., and the Area 'D' Championship at Lake Lanier Sailing Club in Atlanta, Ga.

Liz Merrifield attended both the area competition and the final series as an alternate in the event an accident or sickness affected a crew member.

USDA program requires work from stamp clients

The Department of Agriculture is seeking communities interested in joining a pilot program requiring food stamp clients to work off the value of their food stamps.

Currently, workfare pilot programs are operating in seven locations throughout the country. Legislation passed this May provided money to expand this number of sites to fourteen, and also authorized the project run for another year beyond its originally scheduled expiration next month.

Sites that are selected to operate workfare pilot projects will receive federal reimbursement for 50 percent of their administrative costs under today's new rules.

In signing the emergency final regulations, Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker

Foreman said that cities, counties or other political subdivisions that already sponsor public service employment programs or that have demonstrated an ability to operate such a program are eligible to conduct the projects.

Legislation passed in 1977 specified that the workfare projects be carried out in one urban and one rural area in each of the seven administrative regions of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service.

At the national level, the demonstration is administered jointly by the Departments of Agriculture and Labor (DOL). Legislation passed in May provides for extension of the projects through Sept. of 1981, and for the addition of federal funding for administrative expenses.

Potential sponsors must submit an application with in the next 30 days if they want to operate a workfare pilot project, Foreman said. She added that the department is actively seeking cities, counties and other political subdivisions that might participate.

It is up to the sponsor to determine what type of jobs food stamp recipients will do.

Workfare projects are currently operating in Sussex County, N. J.; Rusk County, Wis.; Muskingum County, Ohio; Berkeley County, S. C.;

the City of Morristown, Tenn.; Clay County, S. D.; and two welfare districts in the County of San Diego, Cal.

Political subdivisions wishing additional information and application kits should call: Claire Lipsman, director, Program Development Division, Family Nutrition Programs, Food and Nutrition Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, (202) 447-8325.

Delta State alums plan Hawaii trip

The Delta State University Alumni Association will sponsor a seven-day mid-winter trip to Hawaii, Jan 31-Feb. 7, according to Hugh Ellis Walker, director of alumni affairs.

"The trip features three Lady Statesmen basketball games in Honolulu," Walker said, "the games against the University of Hawaii and one against Brigham Young University."

The tour price of $975 includes round-trip jet fare from Memphis, accommodations for seven nights at the Sheraton Surfside Hotel on Waikiki Beach and other extras.

"This promises to be an exciting opportunity for DSU friends and alumni to enjoy a vacation and support the Lady Statesmen," Walker said.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the DSU Alumni Office, P. O. Box 3104, DSU, Cleveland, MS. 38733 (Telephone 643-2789).

Waveland student

Barbara A. Berns was recently named to the University of Mississippi Chancellor's list for the summer semester.

A grade point average from 3.75 through 4.0 is required of full-time students carrying at least 12 semester hours for listing on the Chancellor's Honor Roll.

JSU receives justice grant

Jackson State University has received a matching grant totaling $12,479.04 from the Mississippi Commission on Crime and Delinquency in support of a criminal justice internship project.

The grant, consisting of $11,699.10 federal and $779.94 state funds, will be used to support approximately 15 university students employed during the 1980-81 academic year as interns with criminal justice agencies.

Eighty percent of the student internship salaries are provided through the grant, with the remainder being paid by agencies with which they are employed, said Jimmy Bell, director of JSU's criminal justice program.

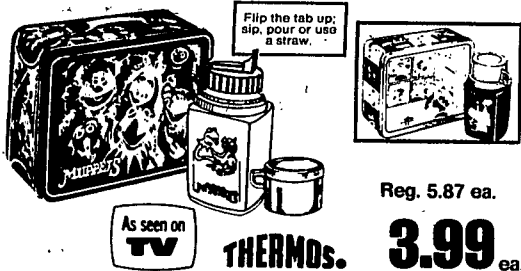

"The grant will allow several agencies to receive full time help at minimal cost, and permit students to acquire practical experience that will make them better able to compete for jobs," Bell said. Jackson State offers a bachelor of science degree in criminal justice. For additional information contact Jimmy Bell at 968-2621.

Council rescues senior ceramics craft program

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Bay St. Louis Council declared the electrical problems an emergency at the Valena C. Jones complex housing the Senior Citizens Ceramics shop at a recessed meeting Tuesday.

The Council accepted emergency bids to rewire that section of the VCJ complex Tuesday after receiving three letter bids.

Apparent low bidder was Necalse Electrical at $895 for labor and materials. Necalse's bid was accepted by the Council subject to approval by Henry Prevou, Bay St. Louis Electrical Inspector.

In previous meetings, Prevou suggested the power supply for the area of the VCJ complex housing the Senior Citizens Ceramics shop be on a separate service because of the amount of electricity needed to run the kilns.

Eve McDonald, coordinator for Senior Citizens activities in Hancock County, expressed appreciation to the Council on behalf of the folks who use the ceramic facilities.

Council was unanimous in commending Prevou on his efforts on the electrical problems at the VCJ complex. The electrical inspector has spent much time in trying to help solve the problems and in making up materials lists for the project.

Prevou said Wednesday, "I will approve the acceptance of the bid by Necalse Electrical because I feel he is very competent and he is licensed and bonded to work in Bay St. Louis."

Council also approved advertising for bids on preparation of road beds for Washington, Sycamore and Keller Streets after plans and specifications were submitted by Donn Murray, representative of Broadway and Seal, engineers.

The blacktopping of the three streets has been advertised and accepted by the county with Bay St. Louis taking care of the base preparation work.

The streets were involved in the 1978 Small Cities Project which updated the water and sewer services in the 500 block of the tree streets.

Cyclist, trucker die in accidents

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Two persons were killed in separate accidents within three days in Hancock County, according to Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

James McQuay Jr., 22, residing in Waveland and carrying an address of 720 Richardson St., Clarksville, Tenn. was killed in a motorcycle accident on Hwy. 607 near the Pearlinton exit Tuesday morning.

Peterson said, "A passing motorist called my office at 12:55 a.m. to report seeing a body and motorcycle in the median of the highway."

Deputies Marc Ohman and Ray Murphy arrived at the scene and called for Coroner Carl Banderet. A coroner's inquest was held and McQuay's death was listed as due to multiple injuries to chest and face, police say.

Peterson stated, "The only thing we can determine is that McQuay apparently lost control of the motorcycle, probably going at an excessive rate of speed while traveling West on 607."

Investigator Alvin Ladner is in charge of the case.

A Saturday accident involving a pickup truck on I-10 claimed the life of one person and sent two others to Hancock General who were checked and released.

Dead at the scene was Edwin Clayton Presley, 26, P.O. Box 139, Alba St., Bayou La Batre, Ala., according to Peterson.

Peterson said, "The pickup Presley was traveling west, left the road on the left shoulder and traveled about 75 paces before crossing the east lane and down into a ditch and then traveled sideways through the woods before striking a large pine tree."

"The vehicle turned over and the two passengers with Presley were probably thrown out before the impact with the tree," Peterson added.

Hancock Coroner Carl Banderet pronounced Presley dead at the scene after holding a coroner's inquest, according to police.

Passengers with Presley were Ralph Thomas West, 24, and Solomon Jones, 46, both of Bayou LaBatre, according to police reports.

Deputy Ronnie Cuevas, Auxiliary Deputy Greg Hammer, Diamondhead Rescue and Mobile Medic responded to the call.

LIFE IN JAIL

A documentary revealing inside conditions of the House of Detention for Men (HSM) in New York can be seen at 10 p.m., Saturday, August 30, on the Mississippi ETV Network. "Presumed Innocent" claims the first camera crew ever allowed extensive access to HDM. The program takes a look at pre-trial detention. While focusing on one of the country's largest jails, the program addresses issues of national significance: the problems and conditions of confinement; the effects of the bail system, particularly on the indigent; and the influence of pre-trial detention on the ultimate disposition of justice. In stark narrative sequences drawing upon divergent views of inmates, corrections personnel and criminal justice officials, the tape looks at the dynamics of life in jail.

Police Investigator Matt Karl said no other vehicles were involved in the accident which 'totally demolished' the car. Karl said Breeden reported his car's brakes locked while turning from the east-bound highway lanes to Seminary Drive, causing the vehicle to roll over once. ### SILAGE HARVEST

Don't harvest silage too early. Wait until corn is in the full dent stage and sorghum is in the hard dough stage. Chop 't three-eighths to one-half inch long. Pack silage well and cover trenches or bunkers to keep rain out and reduce spoilage.

After harvest treat Bermudagrass, Johnson grass and nutsedge areas with Roundup. Use according to label directions. Dowpon also may be used on Bermudagrass and Johnson grass.

TURKEY FEED

September plantings of grasses and clovers provide good grazing and nutritious food for turkeys in late fall, winter or early spring. Wheat, ryegrass or wheat-ryegrass mixtures overseeded four to six weeks later with clover make excellent planting.

These tender plants are higher in protein than food provided by most native shrubs. Fields also provide good summer range where turkeys can forage for insects, grain and weed seeds. For more information on wildlife management contact the County Extension Office.

Dog Bite.....

for two weeks. They said it was out of their jurisdiction to hold such an animal and if they could they didn't have any facilities to isolate the animal," Rowan reported.

"I offered the sheriff's department the use of a ski-kennel (a portable kennel), but they said the dog was better off at my house," she said.

"After having an animal hurt your child like that you don't really want the animal around, even though I had it in the ski-kennel," Rowan explained.

"Sheriff's Deputy Farley Necaise came out, but he said he didn't want to take the dog," Rowan added.

Rowan also contacted Bay St. Louis Animal Warden Robert (Jake) Jacobs. "Jacobs said Parvo-virus had all the dogs in the city pound sick and recommended against bringing the dog there," she said.

Rowan then contacted a local humane society representative who recommended she contact the Gulfport animal shelter.

"In Gulfport, they offered to house the animal for $3 per day," she reported.

Rowan then called Hancock County Board of Supervisor's President A.A. (Dolph) Kellar.

"Kellar told me to bring the dog to the Picayune animal shelter. He said they should take the dog because I do most of my business in that town," she said.

"I called the Picayune shelter and they said the matter was in the Hancock County sheriff's jurisdiction," Rowan stated.

The Flat Top woman then called the Hancock County Health Department. "A man there said the dog should be watched for two weeks by a trained veterinarian," she said.

"He later called back and his attitude was he wanted to know what I wanted to do," Rowan reported.

"I told him I've got an eight-year-old child with a messed up arm and I didn't particularly want the dog around," she replied.

"He then suggested cutting the dog's head off and sending it to Jackson for analysis. Even though the dog had bitten my daughter I thought this was inhumane," Rowan said.

"Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson later called and said a man from the health department talked to him and he would see if a deputy or the Bay animal warden could pick up the dog," she reported.

Rowan said Peterson again called and he was sympathetic, but he said he couldn't pick up the dog.

"So now I've got this dog cooped up in this small, confined, hot kennel," she said.

"I don't know who owns the dog and I've advertised on radio with no response," Rowan stated.

The disparaged mother said she has spent $31 for doctors and medicine, but "this will probably wind up costing me more."

Peterson Monday confirmed conversations reported by Rowan and added, "I don't know what we could do because we don't have an animal shelter."

The sheriff also noted increasing problems with dog control in the county.

"One of the basic animal problems in the county is dogs. This includes strays, children being bitten and roaming pets," Peterson reported.

"My deputies don't have equipment to pick up dogs and we have no budget provision for a county dog warden," the sheriff stated.

Peterson said the county's Assistant Ranger Leslie Dedeaux has equipment to capture roaming livestock, but "he has no way to control dogs."

"It always falls back on my shoulders..." the sheriff explained.

Peterson was encouraged that city-county pound was in the planning stages and said "maybe this will be a start."

Kellar also confirmed his comments to Rowan and added, "We have no place in Hancock County to keep these animals for observation."

When asked if the county could hire an animal warden because the assistant ranger could not pick up strays, Kellar replied, "I haven't thought about that, but I thought this would come under the ranger's jurisdiction."

"It's going to cost money to maintain the pound, much less hiring a warden," the board president added.

"The people voted in a stock law, but the board has no authority to pass an ordinance controlling cats and dogs."

This would have to be done on a state level," Kellar explained.

Jacobs said Monday, "We have a problem with Parvo. Just about every dog I pick up is sick."

"I wouldn't want to take a chance putting a dog in our pound right now—especially a little mongrel dog," Jacobs reported.

The animal warden explained that Parvo-virus seems to be more often fatal to smaller dogs.

Jacobs said approximately 20 dogs and 15 cats are now housed at the 'outdated' Bay St. Louis facility.

"We just have an animal shelter with no segregation at all," he added.

Regarding the Parvo epidemic at the pound, Mayor Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis said Monday afternoon, "We've asked Jacobs to step up sanitizing procedures to ward this virus off."

When asked if the city could provide veterinary help for the sick dogs at the pound, Bennett replied, "At this time, the city is so far over budget it would be impossible to treat the animals properly."

Alcan Cable Co. has a plant next to the Bay pound and plans to utilize that land for expansion purposes.

Regarding new pound location efforts, Bennett said, "Alcan has bent over backwards in helping us with this situation. They could have asked us to move the pound when they moved in, but didn't."

"At first Alcan asked for July 1 to move the pound, but we couldn't meet that deadline so Alcan extended that date," Bennett reported.

Bennett said he hopes to have a new pound built by December.

However, Dumestre said Tuesday morning the proposed pound site near the city's sewerage treatment pond has been scrapped because the area was formally a burrow pit which fills with water in a heavy rain.

The humane society and local officials are again seeking a site for the new animal facility.

New faculty added at Pearl River

"You are the best qualified and the best paid faculty Pearl River College has ever employed," said President Marvin R. White, as he greeted PRC's 130 academic, vocational, and technical instructional employees to campus in Poplarville last week.

"We are going to have another great year here at the River," White said, "and I know you all will uphold the PRC's reputation for having a strong academic, vocational and technical program as well as competitive athletic teams."

White reminded his faculty that the respectability and credibility of Pearl River College depended on them. "Our image and effectiveness as an institution is no better than our weakest instructor." "Remember we are a teaching institution," White said, "and that's our only business. I encourage you to teach as a professional employee and to serve every student who is in your class."

Dr. White called for his faculty to work together. "We're depending on you to help motivate this student body."

Twenty-three members of the Pearl River faculty are beginning their first full year of employment. The largest turnover was in the associate degree nursing department where 10 new instructors are employed.

According to state guidelines all ADN instructors are required to have at least a master's degree and that is the reason for so many new faces in the department.

Nursing instructors from the Hattiesburg area are Arlene Roberts, Maxine Wainwright, Jane Nichols, Nancy Torre, Lucy Bates, Dr. Ann Martin and Valerie DeCoux. Other new comers

Also attending their first PRC faculty meeting were John Watts, Columbia, art; Carole Montet, Hattiesburg, psychology; Jamie Foshue, Hattiesburg, music; and Dr. Glenn Hicks, Hattiesburg, chemistry.

Martha Elbers, Poplarville, is the related math instructor and the only new vocational-technical instructor at the Poplarville center.

New faces around the Forrest County Center will be Leola McInnis, practical nursing and Glenda Stairs as a nurse aide instructor.

New Hancock instructors are William Ard, metal trades and John Farr, electricity teacher. He is teaching practical nursing in Columbia through the Lamar County Center. At the Purvis complex is Richard Clayton, the director and counselor Susan Gray, each joined the Pearl River Staff in those positions during the middle of last year's school session.

New Pearl River staff members include Ron Holmes as business manager and Vernetta Fairley as the financial aide officer.

Bush to speak in Jackson Sept. 3

George Bush, Republican vice-presidential nominee, will be the guest speaker at a fundraising luncheon in Jackson on Wednesday, September 3.

Announcing the event, Mike Retzer, Mississippi Republican Party chairman, said "George Bush's presence will give a substantial boost to the momentum already building in the Reagan-Bush Campaign in Mississippi."

"This will be the second visit within a month by a member of the Reagan-Bush team," Retzer stated.

"Governor Reagan's early August visit to the Neshoba County Fair along with the appearance of George Bush at this fundraising event demonstrate the importance placed on Mississippi by the National Reagan Campaign," Bush, a native of Massachusetts and 30 year resident of Texas, began his political career as a Congressman from Texas' seventh district. He was unopposed in his bid for reelection in 1968. In 1970, Bush was appointed Ambassador to the United Nations, and was later sent to Peking to serve as chief of the Liaison Office. In 1976, Bush accepted the directorship of the CIA.

Mike Retzer said, "The support for Ronald Reagan and George Bush is broad-based and includes many Democrats and Independents."

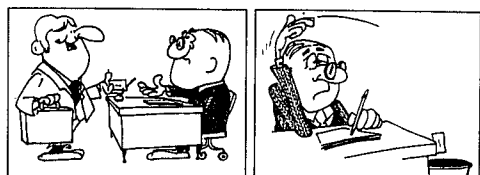

The campaign 80 Luncheon at which Bush will speak will be open to any and all interested persons who wish to attend. "A crowd of 350 people is expected for the fundraising luncheon," Retzer said.

"Tickets for the event will be available through county Republican organizations or the State Republican Headquarters at $50 each," he said.

The luncheon will be held at 12:30 p.m. on September 3, at the Ramada Inn Coliseum in Jackson. Further details of the event will be released at a later date.

DOWN'S SYNDROME

David McFarlane, a young man with Down's Syndrome, stars in an hour-long drama to be presented on Mississippi ETV. The drama, "One of Our Own," is followed by a half-hour documentary on McFarlane himself. "One of Our Own" can be seen at 7 p.m., Thursday, August 23. "David" follows at 8. In "One of Our Own," McFarlane plays a young boy who is afflicted with Down's Syndrome, the commonest form of retardation caused when a child is born with an extra chromosome. Down's Syndrome is an irreversible genetic condition that has life-long implications for physical appearance, intellectual achievement and general function. The show's writer, Florrie Adelson, is the mother of a child with Down's Syndrome. The drama begins with an introduction to the Webster family in the act of relocating from a small town in Nova Scotia to Toronto because the father has obtained a better job and also in the hope of obtaining special training for John. Shortly after their arrival in the new house, two disturbing events occur. "David" is a special profile of the 17-year-old Canadian David McFarlane, who surpassed unusual obstacles to lead a productive life, which includes acting and sports. Interviews with members of the crew on the set of "One of Our Own" show that McFarlane possesses abilities as a natural actor, but also a tremendous capacity to make friends and survive an exhausting rehearsal and shooting schedule. David was a source of amazement to the others on the set, particularly the director. "He refused to play a scene until he understood it thoroughly," he said.

Cadet anchorage basin placed 'on back burner'

By RICH ADAMS
The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission officially placed a proposed Bayou Cadet Anchorage Basin "on the back burner" Thursday night after the board of supervisors earlier had taken similar action.

Port Executive Director Wilson Webre told the commission Thursday night the supervisors have corresponded with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, placing the basin project in abeyance due to lack of local funds.

"The board of supervisors was unable to provide local insurance for the project. The board will hold the basin in abeyance for future consideration. That puts the project on the back burner for us," Webre said Thursday.

A study into the feasibility of the anchorage began in April 1979, when the cost was estimated between $500,000 to $750,000.

In a related matter Thursday, the commission approved looking into drilling an artesian well at Bayou Cadet because the present well is beginning to show effects of sanding.

Commissioner Dave McDonald suggested an artesian well to eliminate use of pumps to move the water.

Webre agreed, saying, "We are finished with the idea of an anchorage basin. The marina is all we have left."

Also Thursday, the commission passed a resolution assessing a $400-a-month charge against the owners of a DC-4 airplane which has been at Stennis International Airport since June, 1978, after being confiscated as a marijuana transport vehicle.

U.S. Customs sold the plane after investigating the marijuana transport, and the owners of the craft attempted to move the plane from Stennis during Hurricane Frederick in 1979.

The plane ended up nose-first in a ditch at the airport after being unable to take off during the hurricane, and is now being disassembled in a remote section of the airport.

"We received a letter from the Federal Aviation Administration which said several junked aircraft are creating an adverse psychological effect on the flying public, noting we should eliminate the problem of junked aircraft immediately," Webre said Thursday.

"I recommend we assess the owners a $400-a-month charge retroactive to April 13, 1980. This will get their attention," he added.

McDonald's motion to assess the charge was approved unanimously by the commission.

In other business Thursday, the commission's airport committee will meet with an insurance adjuster to discuss repairs or replacement of a hangar roof at Stennis International Airport.

The roof was damaged during a tornado at the air field in March of this year.

Commission Attorney Robert Genin explained the process of declaring the roof damage as an emergency, adding he feels the statute concerning emergency repairs "was written to fit these circumstances."

Webre said the commission would receive a settlement of one-third depreciation on the 10-year-old roof, and could either have the roof repaired for the $14,000 settlement or put $8,000 of the commission's money into a new roof.

"We have two choices...either a new roof with a good guarantee or repair the old roof and get an 11-year-old roof with a one-year guarantee," Webre explained.

"We have to fix it one way or another," he added.

The commission will meet again Thursday night at 7:30 p.m.

"The CEU is granted by the college in recognition of adults participating in organized educational program at the campus," he said. "One CEU is recorded for each ten hours of instruction in approved programs."

Persons 65 and older and those 62 to 64 and retired will be admitted on a "space available" basis to any program offered by the college. Tuition and fees, with the exception of book charges, will be waived.

Chamber increases membership to 410

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce ended what has been termed its most successful annual membership drive by signing up 63 new voting members.

This year the chamber sponsored a membership contest.

Chamber Membership Chairman Dick Kosbab of Hancock Insurance Agency in Bay St. Louis said, "We had 347 voting members before the drive. We now have increased our organization to 410 voting members."

Chamber Executive Secretary Jerry Benigno reported, "This has been the most successful membership drive ever, collecting $2,664 in membership dues."

"Our 63 voting members are derived from 39 new memberships and 16 renewals with several businesses participating in our fair share plan," Benigno explained.

Under the chamber's fair share plan businesses may add more employees to a initial membership at a discount rate.

Kosbab reported, "It took quite a bit of work compiling names of prospective members."

"This indicates the chamber already had a high penetration in the community even before the drive began," the membership chairman noted.

Kosbab attributes the outstanding success of the membership to the 'new group medical and life insurance program' now offered to chamber members and to the 'hard work by our campaigners.'

Chamber President Wayne Ducomb Jr. commended Kosbab and his campaigners for doing an 'excellent job in recruiting new members.'

"It had the utmost confidence this campaign would be a success due to the leadership of Kosbab, the fine team he had working for us and new medical and life insurance program we're offering chamber members," Ducomb said.

"We're the only chamber of commerce in southern Mississippi offering this group insurance plan," he added. Contest winners out of some 16 participants are:

—Betsy Ashmann of Hancock Insurance in Bay St. Louis winning first place and a $25 gift certificate from Ellen Kane's Gifts in Bay St. Louis;

—Mack Haas, a Bay St. Louis attorney, second place and a $15 gift certificate from Pittman's Hallmark Shop in Bay St. Louis;

—Dick Moran, manager of Hancock Bank's Diamondhead branch, third place and a dinner for two at the Homestead Restaurant in Bay St. Louis;

—Don Brown, owner of Shieldborough Square, fourth place and a dinner for two at Little Caesar's Restaurant in Waveland;

Other chamber members participating in the membership drive are Hancock County Port and Harbor Director W. Wilson Webre of Bay St. Louis; Debbie Johnson, Janet Necalse and Nancy Murphy, all of Hancock Insurance; Cathy Monti of Monti Electric in Bay St. Louis; Photographer Bob Hubbard of Waveland; Russell Chapman, manager of Hancock Bank's National Space Technology Laboratories branch; Developer Maurice Colly of Bay St. Louis; and Dave Truetel of Truetel Insurance Agency of Bay St. Louis.

Contests in calf roping, barrel racing, bareback mule riding, bull riding, pole bending and more are open to youngsters eighteen years of age and under.

Alert citizen aids in boat recovery

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A $15,000 pleasure boat missing by the owners since August 6 has been recovered in Mobile, Ala., according to Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

The 20-foot Grady White Craft, 200 h.p. Johnson motor and trailer were missing from the summer residence of Robert Hurley Belknap, Good St., a resident of New Orleans.

Peterson said he has been talking to an investigator for the Mobile Police and there is the possibility of an arrest being made.

"We have been working on this stolen boat case and had entered it on the National Crime Information Line," Peterson said.

The sheriff added, "Information obtained from some local people really helped us in tracing the missing boat. A little information can go a long way and we really appreciate the cooperation of the persons giving us the information."

Peterson reports a John Doe warrant has been turned over to Harrison authorities in a water related incident on Jourdan River Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Foy Smith, Hancock residents, were fishing on the river when a large boat towing a water skier almost swamped the couple.

Mr. Smith said, "The impact was so hard on our boat that it knocked the glasses off my wife into the bottom of the boat when the wave hit. We love to fish, and one of the reasons we go early in the morning is to avoid the water skiers."

Mr. and Mrs. Smith collected the number on the craft towing the water skiers and reported them to L.J. Fountain, marine enforcement officer. The couple then proceeded to change clothing as they were soaked from head to foot and signed affidavits against the operator before Justice Court Judge John Chevis.

Peterson reported the boat owner lives in Bay St. Louis, but had loaned it to a Harrison County resident.

Alvin Ladner, Hancock investigator, said he went to Harrison Wednesday trying to locate the person allegedly operating the boat.

MSU schedules high school day

Mississippi high school and junior college students interested in attending Mississippi State University will have an opportunity to find out all about MSU in September.

The annual High School Junior College Day will be held this year on Saturday, September 13.

According to Paula Snow, admissions counselor in the Department of College and School Relations, the activities will be held from 9 a.m. to noon on the MSU Drill Field.

Exhibits from each college, school, or division will be set up around the perimeter of the drill field. A registration table will be located in the center of the field. The MSU Stage Band will perform during the morning and discount tickets to that afternoon's MSU-Louisiana Tech football game will be sold.

Snow says 1500-2000 prospective students are expected to visit the campus, meet with professors and students, and learn about the various courses of study available at MSU.

She also suggests that some visitors might want to stay overnight with a friend in one of the residence halls.

For additional information contact College and School Relations, Box NN, Mississippi State, MS 39762, (601) 325-3076.

Charges on the John Doe warrant include simple assault and the reckless operation of a motor boat, police say.

The Smiths, both upset by the incident Tuesday morning, said they were almost swamped once before in the river by skiers.

Mr. Smith commented, "They sure were using some foul language after almost sinking us."

A T&T tells major Bell Telephone restructuring

"In actions aimed at setting the stage for a major restructuring of Bell system operations, American Telephone and Telegraph Company's Board of Directors has taken positive steps in preparation for these changes," according to Franklin Kyle, District Manager for South Central Bell.

The changes made by the directors include:

- Approval of a realignment of responsibilities at AT&T Headquarters to assure effective management of the transition to a new structure in line with current regulatory and legislative policy expanding competition in the telecommunications industry;
  - Approval of plans to acquire the stock it does not currently own in four telephone subsidiaries to assure compensation of minority interests in anticipation of the establishment of a nationwide "fully separated subsidiary" to market terminal apparatus and "enhanced" services;
  - Authorization of a consolidation of the pension funds of Bell associated companies to ease problems of intercompany transfers when restructuring is effected; and
  - Approval of formation of a wholly-owned subsidiary—AT&T International, Inc.—to consolidate management of Bell System activities in the international market.
- The decision of the Federal Communications Commission in its Computer Inquiry II, effective July 18, requires that

AT&T form a fully separate subsidiary by March 1982 if it wishes to remain in the business of providing customer equipment, such as telephones and switchboards, and to offer enhanced services—services that are expected to come about as a result of the convergence of telecommunications and computers.

Rates for the equipment and services would be tariffed under the FCC order.

Legislation pending in Congress contains similar provisions.

Following the realignment of responsibilities at AT&T Headquarters, to be effective September 1, departure with responsibilities relating to regulated activities will report to the company's president, William M. Ellinghaus.

Those with responsibilities relating to prospectively deregulated activities will report to James E. Olson, vice president of the board. Olson will be responsible for organizing the "fully separated subsidiary" through which the Bell System anticipates marketing its deregulated products and services. William S. Cashel, Jr., continues as vice chairman and chief financial officer.

Morris Tanenbaum, currently president of New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, has been elected executive vice president of AT&T. He will be responsible for corporate planning executive activities as well as for certain corporate staff activities.

In this capacity he will report directly to AT&T Chairman Charles L. Brown. Paul M. Villiere will become vice president—corporate planning reporting to Tanenbaum.

Bruce S. Schwartz has been elected a vice president of the company and will succeed Villiere as vice president—network operations.

Commenting on today's board actions AT&T Chairman Charles L. Brown said "The shape of our future is coming clear. To meet the requirements of that future and to fulfill its opportunities it is apparent that the Bell System will be operating in two modes. Under regulation we will continue to provide basic telecommunications services, local and long distance."

"At the same time, we anticipate that we will be afforded increasing opportunities to compete in unregulated markets and to seek the profitable application of the Bell System's skills and resources in the worldwide information market. A good many uncertainties remain on the regulatory and legislative fronts. But so complex and extensive are the changes that will be required of us that we had best get on with them. The Bell System will be an organization vastly different from the one we know today. But we look forward to the prospect of serving the nation—and the world—in new ways."

ENG 101

A dog who's feeling comfortable can be easier to train. It also helps to reward your dog. When he obeys an order, and gets a tidbit and your approval as a reward
he'll want to do it again.

Dogs can have dandruff.
It's often caused by too-frequent washing with strong soap, or skin conditions like seborrhea or dermatitis. A specially formulated medicated shampoo for dogs is a help in such cases, removing the itching scales and flakes.

Your dog is pretty thin-skinned. In fact, all dogs' skins are thinner than human skin. A dog's skin is also more delicate and more easily injured. Experts on dog care say scratching can be serious and should not be ignored. A painless skin medicine, Sulfodene Medication for Dogs, has been developed to treat scratching and the eczema, sores and scrapes that may cause it.

To ripen fruits faster, place them in a perforated plastic bag.

Bay-Waveland Soccer Club registration set

By JOHN HELMERS
Soccer Information
Chairman

Many youth in the Bay-Waveland area are anxiously waiting for the notice to return to the soccer fields again, and many have exceptional reasons for waiting.

Last year almost 25 percent of all players from Bay St. Louis and Waveland competed in the Mississippi Soccer Association Youth Division's state tournament. With such results, it is easy to see why so many youth are anxious for the season to begin.

"Last year we had 13 teams from this area competing in the South Mississippi Soccer Club in Gulfport, and four of them went to the state tournament," said Bay-Waveland Soccer Chairman Tom Demboski.

"Two other teams, including the girl's division under 16 just missed making the state tournament. This is amazing when you consider soccer was only in its third season in our area," he continued.

"We had 200 youth playing soccer in the Bay-Waveland league last year, ranging in age from a few five-year-olds who were rather big for their age to several 19-year-olds. It will not surprise us if we have in excess of 400 youth playing soccer here this year," Demboski added.

"We are expecting big things for soccer in the coming season," he explained.

A schedule for registering younger players has been established in cooperation with the local elementary schools. Sign-up will be conducted during the first two weeks of September.

Registration is as follows:
—St. Clare's Elementary, Tuesday, Sept. 2, 7 p.m.;

—Christ Episcopal, Wednesday, Sept. 3, 8 p.m.;

—Bay Catholic Elementary, Thursday, Sept. 4, 7 p.m. in the OLG cafeteria;

—Waveland Elementary, Tuesday, Sept. 9, following PTO meeting; and —North Bay Elementary, Thursday, Sept. 11, 7 p.m.

Registration for all older players will take place Saturday, Sept. 13, from 9 a.m. until noon in the day care center building of the Lutheran Church of the Pines on US-90 in Waveland.

A fee of $13 will be collected from each youth registering.

"We are grateful for the support we have received from the schools. We have been given time on the PTO agenda at Waveland Elementary, we have been allowed to use space at the elementary schools to conduct registration, and we have been allowed to circulate publicity material," Demboski said.

"This has allowed us to make contact with virtually every youth in the area, and that was our primary goal this year," the soccer chairman continued.

"There have been a few important changes in the program this year of which both players and parents should be made aware. The most important is that all games in the fall and spring seasons will be counted in a team's won-lost record, so we won't be able to register new players in January like we did last year," Demboski explained.

"This change makes it important for children to become involved in the soccer program from the outset, and for parents not to delay registering their children. Once sign-up is completed we can only add players as openings become available on teams, and that only happens if a child drops from a team or moves out of the area," Demboski continued.

"An extra game has been added to our schedule, so a team will compete in a total of 14 games this year. With our $13 registration and 14 game slate, that works out to less than $1 per game. Parents cannot involve a youth in an organized sports program any cheaper today," he added.

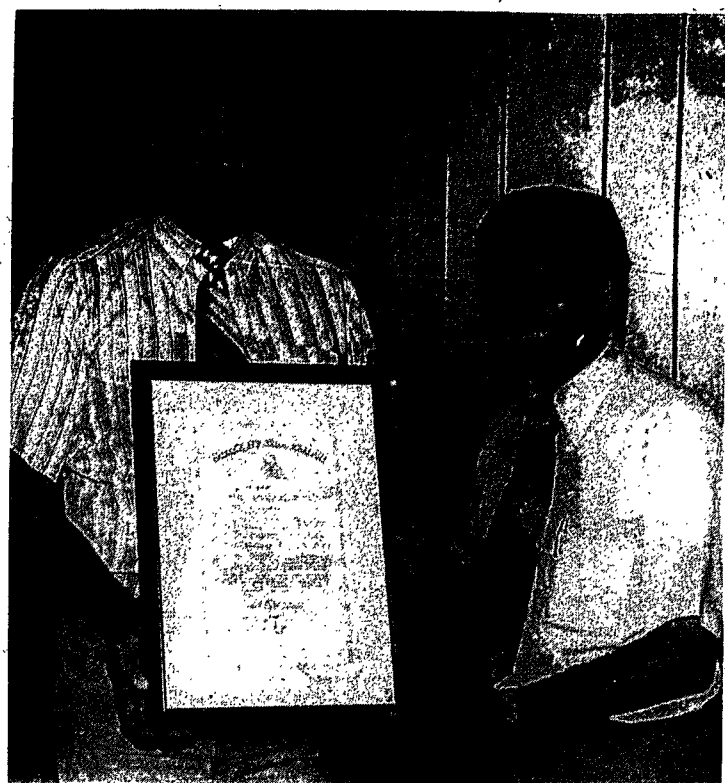

Practices should begin about Sept. 15. The season opens Oct. 11 and ends Nov. 15.

Following Thanksgiving and Christmas, the season resumes January 31 with an eight game slate. Top teams in each division at the end of the season will compete in playoffs for the state soccer tournament, which will be held in Jackson April 28-29.

"We've had five teams in the state tourney in the last two years. One team has been there twice," Demboski said.

"They were the Red Devils in the under 14 age group, and they just missed winning the state title. They will have nine of 15 players returning this year, and most of those nine will be playing together for the fourth consecutive year," he continued.

"We think we have a good chance to go all the way this season. There are other teams in other age groups almost as good as the Red Devils. With a little luck Bay St. Louis and Waveland will be well represented in Jackson, and one team could bring home a title," he added.

HAWKETTES COMMENDED—Hancock County Schools Superintendent Billy D. Sills, left, receives a concurrent House of Representatives resolution commending the Hancock North Central Hawkettes from State Representative J.P. Compretta of Hancock County. The Hawkettes, led by Head Coach Charlie Jacobs and Assistant Coach David Ward, won the Class 'A' State Championship in Jackson this year. "Now, therefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives... the Senate concurring therein, that we hereby commend and congratulate the Hancock North Central... Hawkettes and their coaches... for displaying tireless devotion to their athletic endeavors," the resolution reads. Charles Lyle, athletic director at HNC, was also commended. ## Hancock horses nab Oak Downs races

Special to the
Sea Coast Echo
PEARL RIVER, LA.—Hancock County horsemen went two-for-three Sunday at Oak Downs in a 14-race slate. Reginald Ladner of Hancock County visited the winner's circle after his horse, Rabbit, won the 440-yard race against Chico in a time of 23.5 seconds.

Clyde and Oswald Moran's Donna Falana captured the 400-yard ninth race with a clocking of 21.35 against St. Patty.

But the Kiln area Morans weren't as fortunate in the 100-yard 11th race, as Oscar Meyer left the starting gates on top, but faltered near the end of the short contest. Omega Diane, owned and trained by leading trainer John Paul Amacker of Poplarville, won by a nose.

In other action, one meet record was shattered and another was tied at the Pearl River oval. Goodnight Omega, owned by Elmo Harless of Hattiesburg and trained by Merlin Marchal of New Orleans, La., was clocked at :37.1 in winning the three-eighths mile 10th race over Pippa's Heir by nearly two lengths.

The previous record, :37.1, was held jointly by Bazarre

Chance (July 13, 1980) and Hi Rebel Bar (Aug. 3, 1980).

The record for 400 yards was tied in the 13th race as Chico, owned by Howard Summers and trained by Holly Summers of Eight Mile, Ala., zipped of a time of :20.85 seconds in defeating Stagger Lee.

Chico had run earlier in the day, losing the first race and coming back to tie the mark set by April's Injun on July 6. Jeff Peterman, Oak Downs' leading jockey, returned to action Sunday after being injured in a spill several weeks ago.

The 11-year-old Gulfport resident rode five winners, giving him 29 victories for the season beginning June 29.

SOME STRANGE FISH

Ever hear of a fish with four eyes? The anableps, a small fish of tropical America, has eyes which project above and below the water's surface.

Two eyes out of the water have distance vision, while the two below the surface see under water.

Fish are amazing creatures. Different species possess physical traits which enable them to fill every possible niche from the deepest ocean to the surface of the water.

More than 17,000 species of fish exist in the world. The variety of their physical characteristics is astounding.

While most of these are not species which the average angler will encounter, some possess such unusual features that Mercury outboards' outdoor recreation department feels they are of interest to nature enthusiasts.

In South America, there's a catfish that looks like a tank.

This fish, which often weighs 100 pounds, has plate armor so tough that native fishermen can't skin the creature to eat it.

Their solution is to toss the entire fish into a fire, then break open the shell and scoop out the cooked meat.

If you think all strange fish live elsewhere, guess again.

Cavefish, with five species living east of the Rocky Mountains, have external sense organs over most of their bodies, but are totally blind after losing their eyes when young.

Then there are fish that walk, fish that climb trees, even fish that kiss on the lips and you can't pull them apart. The world of fishes is indeed strange.

FISH WEAR NAME TAGS

Have you ever been puzzled about what kind of fish you caught?

Most anglers have, particularly when they must distinguish between members of the same family.

Fortunately, this problem can be solved because fish wear labels which tell exactly what they are.

Knowing the species of fish you catch is important.

The labels fish wear are their physical characteristics.

According to Mercury outboards' fishing department, these can be such things as the number of spines in the dorsal fin, the shape of the tail, length of the lower lip, the number of scales along the lateral line, and other features visible to fishermen.

Biologists advise that color is not a reliable identification feature. Too often, habitat influences color.

Sometimes fish can be told apart by counting the spines in the dorsal fin.

Black crappie usually have seven or eight, while white crappie usually have six.

The best way to identify fish is to use biologists' keys.

These are a series of descriptive notes which lead you from one visible feature to the next until positive identification is achieved.

They're easy to use and are available through most state fisheries agencies, or in books which you can purchase.

Coastal management plan to aid commercial, sport fishermen

The Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation gave final approval recently to a sweeping Coastal program which is intended to balance environmental protection with economic growth in the Coastal area.

The plan, some six years in the making, was approved at a meeting of the Commission's five-member board in Jackson last week.

Considered a milestone in providing protection for the state's remaining coastal wetland areas, the program includes a wetland use plan which designates certain areas in industrial parks and other development centers for use by industry, while preserving other wetland areas in their natural state.

Coastal wetlands are defined as all areas below the mark of ordinary high tide and are critical habitat for many species of shellfish, finfish, and wildlife.

According to department officials, a major part of the newly approved coastal plan addresses the problems in fisheries management caused in part by the destruction of habitat considered critical to the seafood industry.

"Better than 60 percent of Mississippi's fisheries resource utilizes wetlands at some time during their life cycle," Bureau of Marine Resources Director Richard Leard said.

"What I think is important to understand here is that some fisheries habitat destruction has occurred in the past. Each alteration has a direct affect on the seafood industry that has a dockside value of over $33 million each year. Also, by the time these seafood products reach consumers they have generated some $190 million," Leard explained.

Leard, who is director of the wildlife facility in Long Beach, commented that the fisheries industry along the Coast employs some 3,300 people in various seafood-related jobs as fishermen, processors, and others.

Another major section of the Coastal plan provides for management area planning for industrial parks, port facilities, and urban waterfronts.

Experts say that the Coastal plan provides pre-planning for public and private interests which may locate and develop in wetland areas.

"The Coastal program was designed to provide for the least environmentally damaging expansion in existing areas by all concerned," Leard said.

Under the plan, which will provide some $800,000 to the Bureau of Marine Resources for personnel and programs, guidelines have been formulated for handling wetland permit requests for development.

According to agency executive director Richard Yancey, "In the past anyone requesting a permit for work in a wetland area did not know how the application would be handled or if it would receive favorable action."

"Under the Coastal program, a priority has been given to the few remaining waterfront sites, to make sure that those industries needing water for their processes will have it," he added.

Another part of the plan will provide for federal participation in the Coastal program. Leard explained that work by federal agencies, along Mississippi's Coast must comply with the new plan.

"This means that the federal government comes in and wants to conduct some type activity like offshore exploration for oil and gas or maybe dredging a channel, they must comply with the Coastal plan to make sure their actions are the least environmentally damaging," Leard said.

Another provision of the plan calls for a seven-member advisory board made up of representatives from various interests along the Coast. The board members will be appointed by Governor William Winter.

Of the 33 Coastal states across the country, some 19 have ongoing Coastal plans.

Consumer specialist explains credit history

"MONEY TALK"

By Norine Barnes

Where did we learn our habits about credit management? How long has credit been around? In America, consumer credit goes back to Colonial times when furniture was bought in installment payments.

It was not until the nineteenth century that such durables as pianos, sewing machines, and books could be bought on credit. In 1910, automobiles became available on the installment plan. It was at this time that consumer credit became an alternative form of payment.

Oil companies issued the first credit cards in the 1920's. Hotels, chain and department stores also issued credit cards. All purchases had to be paid in 30 days.

The real purpose of the credit cards during that decade was to identify the firm's regular charge customer. In the 1930's, two stores instituted a primitive form of revolving credit and after World War II, the use of this type of account became widespread.

Most businesses viewed the cards as a means to keep customer loyalty and increase sales rather than making a profit from the credit accounts. Diners Club was founded in 1950 and credit cards were on their way as a separate business.

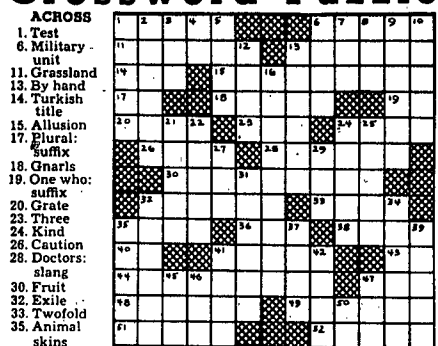

The bank card was launched in 1951 by the Franklin National Bank of Long Island. By 1955, more than 100 banks had card plans and in 1966 and 1967 two bank card associations which had operated in California went national. They were Bankamericard and Interbank (now Master Charge).

Millions of consumers have used the bank and oil cards for food and entertainment. Since changes in interest rates and minimum payments are possible, read carefully any correspondence you receive regarding your charge accounts.

Food stamp proposal states users must seek employment

Able-bodied food stamp recipients must actively search for jobs or be dropped from the program, under regulations proposed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Labor.

"Under the proposed rules, people who fail to look for a job on their own or who don't report for the interviews at their state employment office will find their households dropped from the food stamp program for two months," said Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman.

Those who are exempt from the work registration requirement are primarily the elderly and disabled, those already working, those responsible for the care of dependents and those already registered for work under the unemployment insurance and work incentive programs.

The rules also require recipients who register for work to be called in to their state employment service, now identified as job service in many states, for an interview and job classification.

Foreman said under the existing program, funding limitations have prevented employment offices from actually calling in and interviewing any more than the most employable of the food stamp work registrants. Recipients who have registered for work but had few job skills have often not had the benefit of employment office services, Foreman said.

Under the proposed rules, USDA would more than double the amount of funding to the U.S. Department of Labor, raising the annual amount to $70 million so that department can reach hard to place recipients.

State job service agencies would continue to refer registrants to potential employers, under the proposed rule. But food stamp job seekers would have to supplement this service with their own eight-week job search.

The proposed rules would establish as a standard that work registrants contact between eight to 24 potential employers within the eight week period, and also report for two follow-up interviews with their employment counselors, Foreman said.

Requirements for each person's job search would depend on their individual circumstances and the availability of jobs in the community, as assessed by the job service counselor.

The state job services would report to state welfare agencies the names of food stamp job seekers who refuse to comply with the interviews or job search requirements, as well as those who find jobs.

While the work registration and job search regulations are expected to be in effect by early 1981, the two government agencies plan to run an 18-month demonstration project to test other ways, such as job-finding clubs, to match food stamp applicants with jobs. They will be seeking state welfare and job service agencies to sponsor the demonstration projects.

The proposed regulations complete implementation of major food stamp reforms enacted in 1977 and set uniform national standards for work registration and job search activities.

Comments on the proposed regulations should be sent by Oct. 7 to Albert Frost, deputy administrator for family nutrition programs, Food and Nutrition Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

AMDRO READY BUT NOT WAITING

Southern farmers and the Environmental Protection Agency have been sold on a new effective fire ant poison - AMDRO - but it will be some time before supplies will be available to start turning around the build-up in fire ant population.

The conditional approval of Amdro by EPA last week has restored optimism that farmers again will have the ammunition to fight back against their pesky enemies of pastures and hay meadows. But their hope is tempered with the facts that Amdro is not readily available and will not be for some time to come, that it will be considerably more expensive than past formulations, they cannot use it in certain areas, and it is harder to dispense than previous products.

Farmers in the southeastern United States have been without a fire ant control poison since the phase out of Mirex on June 30, 1978. Since then fire ant infestations have been unabated.

Last week this writer visited an area in Newton county which was a part of a 25,000-acre test in Mississippi this year for the new product Amdro, and found local farmers happy with test results.

We found Kenneth Boutwell raking and baling hay a few miles southeast of Newton with no signs of fire ant infestations in the same meadows that have been virtually impossible to manage in recent years. Boutwell was happy over the release of his lands from ant colonies.

"The new product was applied in February," Boutwell said, "and two months later the ants appeared to be gone."

The central Mississippi dairyman pointed to old fire ant mounds that had been leveled by his mowing equipment and which had not been rebuilt because apparently there were no fire ants left to rapidly restore the low dunes according to their habit. This writer dug into the mound looking for brood and found none. Amid the drying, windrowed hay however, there were observed many other forms of insects not affected by the Amdro. Crickets, spiders, other species of ants and various other insects abounded in the hay.

Amdro is a totally different chemical product from Mirex and it breaks down in the environment in 18 to 24 hours, an apparent major factor that led to EPA's approval last week.

The conditional approval means that Amdro cannot be used just anywhere farmers or others may want to use it, but it is restricted to pastures, range grasslands, hay meadows and turfs. It cannot be used over water or on croplands where food crops are grown or even where seed oils, as an example, eventually end up in food products.

Further, the label provides for application by properly calibrated equipment guaranteeing proper application rates evenly distributed over the treated zone.

Amdro is produced by American Cyanamid Company which reportedly is prepared to supply only ten percent of that needed this year.

Marion Ueltschey, director of the Mississippi Authority for Fire Ant Control, points out that the product is hard to make and is a slow process. The main problem, he reported, is the preparation of the active ingredients of the poison. As a bait the active ingredients will be incorporated into a corn flour byproduct which is less easily distributed mechanically than previous fire ant baits.

Cost of the new product is several times higher than previous formulations at the present time. Hence its use may not be economically feasible in all land use situations.

But the most important thing is that a new fire ant control product has been manufactured, it works well according to tests, and EPA says it is safe. This opens the door again to much needed fire ant control.

OLE MISS PROFS

Gov. William Winter has appointed two University of Mississippi professors to the Mississippi Advisory Board to the National Historical Publications and Records Commission. Dr. David Sansing, associate professor of history, and Dr. Thomas Verich, University archivist and an assistant professor, are among 12 members of the newly organized advisory board which is responsible for reviewing all grant proposals from the state and making recommendations to the national commission. The advisory board has already formed a subcommittee to draft a state records management plan.

Bagworms can damage trees

By Rand D. Friedrich
Hancock County Forester

If the Cedar trees in your yard have spindle-shaped bags hanging from their branches, the trees are probably infested with the bagworm.

The most noticeable characteristic of the bagworm is the bag that the caterpillar or worm constructs of silk, twigs and leaves. These bags are light brown in color, pointed at both ends with the upper end open through which the caterpillar feeds.

The caterpillar remains in the bag and drags it wherever it goes. When the bag is 1.5 to 2 inches in length, the caterpillar is mature. Then it pupates and transforms into an adult.

Adult males fly to mate with wingless female moths that remain in the bags. A female adult can lay 500 to 1,000 eggs.

Bagworms are leaf-feeding insects that feed on the surface of leaves. They can completely defoliate a tree in some cases which may weaken the tree and cause death. These insects have also been found on Honey and Black Locust, Box Elder, Maples, Arborvitae, Arizona Cypress and Pine Trees.

If only a few bags are present on your tree, pick them off by hand and burn them for an effective means of control, however, one must be certain that there are no bags remaining, as there are numerous eggs inside each female bag.

Where infestations are heavy and where many trees are infested, the most convenient means of control is with the use of insecticide sprays. As with most insects the best time to obtain control with insecticides is when the worms are young.

Various insecticides such as Malathion, Diazinon and Sevin may be used to control bagworms. Contact a commercial nursery or garden shop to get one of the above insecticides. Remember, insecticides are poisons—follow label instructions carefully.

Five local Scout units attend Salmen camp

The Sea Coast Echo feature

THURSDAY, AUGUST 28, 1980-1C

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The New Orleans Area Council Boy Scouts of America Cypress District is one of 15 agencies partially funded by the Hancock County United Way.

Salmen Reservation near the Sellers Community is the council's summer camp facility used by five Hancock County units this summer.

Bob Whitaker is Salmen Camp Director.

Boys attending summer camp learn a variety of skills which also entitles them to receive various Scout merit badges.

Skills taught at the Salmen Reservation include canoeing, gun marksmanship, archery, first aid, swimming, ecology conservation, outdoor cooking, gun safety and many others.

Scouts also had the opportunity this summer to receive 'skill instructions' and 'exchange cultural information' with Victor Modderman from Holland and Marco Lusvardi of Italy.

Modderman and Lusvardi are Boy Scout members overseas and are part of the 'international camp staff program.'

Director of Support Services Gerald Villars stated, "Modderman and Lusvardi served as staff members at the camp and introduced local scouts to special skills they acquired in their own scouting experience."

Scout District Executive James Groce reports, "At the present time, 15 Hancock County schools, churches and community organizations serve as chartering partners for 21 Scouting units.

"Some nine of the 21 units were organized within the past 11 months," Groce added.

Local Cub Scout Packs are Pack 20 of Annunciation School in Kiln, Pack 57 of Bay St. Louis Catholic School, Pack 207 of North Bay Elementary School, Pack 208 of American Legion Post No. 139 in Bay St. Louis, Pack 212 of St. Clare's Catholic School in Waveland, Pack 213 of Gulfview Elementary's Parent-Teacher Organization in Lakeshore, Pack 214 of Charles B. Murphy Elementary's Parent-Teacher Organization, Pack 220 of Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis, Pack 615 of the Diamondhead Fire Department, and Pack 630 of The Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints in Waveland.

Hancock County Boy Scout Troops are Troop 88 of St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis, Troop 208 of American Legion Post No. 139, Troop 210 of the Waveland Volunteer Fire Department, Troop 384 of the Bay St. Louis Catholic Committee, Troop 615 of the Diamondhead Fire Department, Troop 630 of The Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints, and Troop 777 of First Missionary Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis.

Local Explorer Posts are Post 208 of American Legion Post No. 139, Post 615 of the Diamondhead Fire Department, Post 630 of The Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints and Post 780 of the Divine Word Seminary in Bay St. Louis.

Groce said Hancock County scout achievements and activities also included:

—Some 10 Cub Scout packs recently participating in 1980 Cub Day at National Space Technology Laboratories;

—One Cub Scout received recognition for a life-saving act of heroism;

—Some 18 units performed 21 significant community service projects involving nearly 1,300 man-hours;

—Some 43 unit leaders received advanced leadership training from the district and the council service center;

—Two units received 'honors' recognition for participation in the 1980 Scout Show at the Rivergate in New Orleans;

—Some 10 Cub Packs participated in the 1980 Pinewood Derby at Diamondhead;

—Some 21 units participated in over 200 local, district, council and national scouting events over the past year;

—Four units participated in the National Olympic Good Turn project and in the Census Bureau assistance project;

—Eight units participated in the Spring Camparee at Salmen Reservation;

—Over 200 advancement recognition awards were earned including two Eagle Scout achievements;

—Six of the past 11 monthly Roundtables were conducted in Hancock County;

—Some 22 of 24 monthly district committee meetings were conducted in Hancock County;

—Two Hancock County

adult leaders were the recipients of the District Award of Merit, Silver Beaver and the Wood Badge.

Regarding local Boy Scout unit development, Groce reported, "A need is seen in the district for additional scouting units and programs in Pearlinton, Lakeshore, Waveland, Kiln and northern Hancock County."

"Also, there is much interest in the development of Exploring programs for young adults such as career law, law enforcement, medicine, science, space exploration, horsemanship and journalism," Groce added.

The local United Way's 'advanced gifts' direct mail donation program is now underway to gather funds for the formal September 1 campaign kickoff.

The 1980 fund raising campaign will run through October with this year's goal set at $40,000—a $5,000 increase from last year's goal.

Campaign Chairman Dick Kosbab of Bay St. Louis said, "With the increasing budgets from all our recipient agencies we need meet our increased goal and to do this we getting a headstart in collecting these funds."

Flood zone rulings subject to appeal

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Sea Coast Echo today concludes its three-part series on the National Flood Insurance Program based on a series of questions and answers provided by the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Today's installment deals with avenues of appeal from FEMA and Federal Insurance Agency determinations in connection with the program.

APPEALS

Q. Can a community challenge being identified by FIA as flood-prone?

A. Yes. If, after receiving a Flood Hazard Boundary Map, the community feels that it is not flood-prone or has corrected the hazard, it has six months from the date of the map to challenge FIA's designations. FIA has administratively accepted appeals at any time in order to produce the most accurate maps possible.

Q. Can a community challenge FIA's Flood Hazard Boundary Map?

A. Yes. A community may agree with FIA's determination that there are local flood problems, but dispute the extent of the hazard areas as shown on FIA's map. In this case, the community may at any time submit data for review. FIA will review the data and, if warranted, amend the community's map.

Q. Can a community challenge the flood levels FEMA derives from its on-site survey?

A. Yes. By law, the community and all property owners may appeal the flood levels FEMA proposes.

Q. How long is this appeal period open?

A. FEMA publishes notices of the elevations (as proposed findings) twice in a local newspaper. For 90 days following the second publication the community and individuals can formally appeal the elevations before they become final. After appeals are resolved, elevations become final and are published on the community's Flood Insurance Rate Map. This map becomes effective usually six months after the community is notified that the appeals have been resolved. Informal appeals are reviewed by FIA at any time in order to publish the most accurate maps possible.

Q. Is there an opportunity for community input to the detailed study?

A. Yes. Before the study is initiated, an FIA representative consults all existing information for use in the study. At the discretion of local officials, public meetings may be conducted at which interested parties may present relevant facts to help assure accurate study results. FIA also holds meetings with each community's officials to discuss technical procedures prior to the map's publication and appeal procedure.

Q. Can FIA's flood maps be changed even after they have been published?

A. Yes. FIA will review technical data at any time and revise its Flood Hazard Boundary Maps or Flood Insurance Rate Maps whenever changes are warranted.

Q. Can a property owner appeal being included in an FIA flood-prone area (i.e., an "A" or "V" zone area where flood insurance is required)?

A. Yes. Some property

may be physically located in the flood plain or on or near a flood plain boundary but because of the lot's elevation it may be protected from the base flood. In either case, the property owner can submit certain evidence to FIA for review. If the evidence shows that the property is safe from the base flood, FIA will send a letter to the individual stating that the structure is not exposed to risk from the base flood and that flood insurance is no longer required. (See No. 33). For more information write FIA (see the end of the pamphlet for addresses) or call toll-free 800-424-8872.

Q. What must a community do to assure continued availability of flood insurance locally?

A. The community must adopt and enforce flood plain management measures aimed at reducing future flood losses. These measures must comply at a minimum with the standards of the Program.

Q. What is meant by "flood plain management?"

A. "Flood plain management" means the operation of an overall community program of corrective and preventive measures for reducing flood damage, including (but not limited to) emergency preparedness plans and any measures aimed at the future use of the flood plain. Flood plain management includes specific local codes and ordinances which provide standards for the location and design of new development within flood-prone areas. These measures may be adopted in any manner that is legally enforceable for a particular community. Typically they take the form of zoning, subdivision or building requirements or a special purpose flood plain ordinance.

Q. What are the minimum flood plain management standards necessary for a community to qualify for the Emergency Program?

A. A community must: (1) require building permits for all proposed construction or other development in the community, and (2) review the permit to assure that sites are reasonably free from flooding.

For its flood-prone areas, the community must also require: (1) proper anchoring of structures, (2) the use of construction materials and methods that will minimize flood damage, (3) adequate drainage for new subdivisions, and (4) the location and design of new or replacement utility systems to prevent flood loss.

Q. Will additional measures ever be required?

A. To enter the Regular Program, the community must require that all new construction and substantial improvements to existing structures in FEMA-identified flood-prone areas be elevated or floodproofed to the level of the base flood. (See No. 27 for a definition of the "base flood.")

Additional standards are required within any designated floodway or coastal high hazard area.

Q. Who establishes and who administers the program's flood plain management measures?

A. FIA has established the minimum standards required for participation in the program, but it is the responsibility of local communities to adopt and administer these or stronger standards. A community is encouraged to adopt more comprehensive standards that exceed minimum requirements, and many do.

Q. Do the required flood plain management regulations apply retroactively to existing structures in the flood plains?

A. No.

Q. Would the program's flood plain management regulations ever affect existing structures in the identified flood hazard areas?

A. Only if a structure is "substantially improved."

Q. What is substantial improvement?

A. It is any repair, reconstruction or addition of a structure the cost of which equals or exceeds 50 percent of the market value of the structure either before the improvement is started or the damage has occurred. It does not, however, include such actions taken to comply with existing State or local codes and ordinances or alterations to a structure listed on the National Register of Historic Places or a State Inventory of Historic Places.

Q. Do the program's flood plain management regulations apply to new construction outside of the identified areas of special flood hazard?

A. No.

Q. Can a community be selective in the administration of its flood plain management measures?

A. No. A community must uniformly administer, at the minimum, the criteria established by FIA for regulating all new construction and substantial improvements in all of the identified areas of special flood hazard ("A" and "V" zone areas).

Q. Why must flood plain management be a community effort? Why can't it be left to individuals?

A. Without community

oversight of building activities in the flood plains, the best efforts of some to reduce flood losses could be undermined by the careless building of others.

Q. What are the advantages of flood plain management measures?

A. These regulations can save lives and reduce property losses. When a community makes proper use of its flood plains, the amount of potential damage from future flooding will be reduced, while the overall value of the community should ultimately be enhanced.

Q. Why have flood plain management requirements been included in an insurance program?

A. The mounting loss of life (which has totaled over 10,000 people in this country since 1900) and property damage (which currently totals over $1 billion a year) will be substantially reduced by local community commitment to the program's goals. It is estimated that, by the year 2000, adherence to sound flood plain management and the purchase of flood insurance by owners of flood-prone property will reduce economic loss from flooding by $1.7 billion in a year.

Q. Where can more information about the program be obtained?

A. From the FIA Region IV Office or from FIA's Central Office in Washington, D.C. Call FIA toll-free at (800) 424-8872 for all program matters such as community eligibility. FIA's Insurance Servicing Agent should be contacted at 800-638-6620 for insurance-related questions. FIA REGION IV 1371 Peachtree Street, N.E., Atlanta, Georgia 30309 Commercial no. (404) 881-2391

Bay band student joins MSU musicians

Melinda K. Smith of Bay St. Louis is among 80 freshman and transfer students selected for membership in the 1980 Famous Maroon Band at Mississippi State University, according to James G. Hejl, director of bands.

Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Smith, is a graduate of Bay Senior High School, and was active in numerous band activities.

The 1980 season marks the 78th year of existence for the Famous Maroon Band, making it one of the South's oldest. Other instrumental music organizations at MSU include the Symphonic Band, Concert Band, Stage Bands A and B, the Clarinet Choir and the Brass Quintet.

Membership in the Famous Maroon Band is by audition, with most of the 1980 edition coming from Mississippi high school band programs. Other states represented include Illinois, Tennessee and Texas.

This year's Maroon Band will perform at eight football games, and will wear new uniforms. Members will be decked in maroon trousers, white coats with maroon trim and maroon shakos (hats).

New uniforms were partially the reason for the adoption of the name "Famous Maroon Band." However, these were new uniforms worn by the 39 members of the band under the direction of the late Henry E. Wamsley in 1928.

This band won a highly publicized band competition, and sports writers began referring to them as the "Famous Forty." Later the name "Famous Maroon Band" evolved.

Other 1980 band performances include the spring tour of the Symphonic Band and Stage Band A. The bands will perform throughout the state, and in a number of campus appearances.

Workshop to eye women in science

Gulf Coast women college graduates have been invited to participate in an upcoming workshop at USM, partially funded by the National Science Foundation.

The purpose of the workshop will be to advise women how to prepare for careers in the sciences, and to provide information on job opportunities.

About 150 women are expected to attend the workshop, including college juniors and seniors, graduate students, and women who hold an undergraduate degree, but who are unemployed or underemployed.

There is no cost to the participants, and meals will be provided.

The workshop will be directed by Dr. Ruth Ann Cade, associate professor of computer science and statistics at USM.

"We hope the workshop will help to promote a positive attitude toward careers in science," Dr. Cade said. "We are inviting several nationally known women scientists to be at the workshop and to meet with our participants. Also, participants will be informed about job openings in the biological, physical, and social sciences. We are proud to have been selected to conduct one of only 17 of the National Science Career Workshops."

Anyone interested in attending this free workshop should apply in advance; applicants will be accepted on a first come, first served basis. Applicants may contact the USM Department of Community Services and Women's Programming, Box 5056, USM, Hattiesburg, MS 39401 (Phone: 601-268-7386).

Thigpen waxes nostalgic over pre-automobile era

Sixty to sixty-five years ago wagons were as important to the people of this country as are trucks and automobiles today, a fact which people over 60 years old know.

When I first went into business in Picaune in 1919, everybody came to town in wagons, except for a very few who came in buggies, rode horseback, or walked.

Cars and trucks were just beginning to come into use.

In 1920 there was one small garage in Picaune, while there were several blacksmith shops. On a busy day dozens of wagons would be parked around over Picaune.

Back then all the stores made deliveries with wagons pulled by horses.

While we have had many startling changes in the last 60 years, nothing has changed so completely as the modes of transportation.

In 1920, to make the trip from Lectown, Ceasar, or Cybur to Picaune and back home was an all day job with a horse or mule and wagon.

From Catahoula or Necaise or Henleyfield it was a big undertaking to come to Picaune and go back home in one day.

I remember selling a man over on Wolf River a cane mill in the fall of 1919.

It took him three days to come to Picaune, get his mill, and get back home.

Now, people living in those communities can come to Picaune in something like 30 to 40 minutes, attend to their business, and get back home all within an hour or so.

If the creeks, in the old days, got up it would sometimes be impossible to go to town for a week or more.

When I grew up every farmer had a wagon. A wagon was essential, even on a small farm. The farm wagon was used for all farm purposes, hauling everything that required transportation.

Also, wagons had another very important use - they were used to transport the farm families to wherever they wanted to go. Many times I have seen dozens of wagons at a country church on Sunday.

As a boy, I, myself, have driven a pair of horses 20 miles to market - a long, all-day trip.

We would leave home before daylight and travel along, the team always at a walk.

At noon we would stop at some convenient place, usually a spring beside the road, to rest the team and to rest ourselves for an hour or so.

Then we would go on down the winding old dirt road and reach the market place towards the middle of the afternoon, or later.

Since the trip to market was made infrequently, due to the effort and time it took, there was usually a long list of things to buy and see about.

Along about sundown, or before, we would leave the little market town and drive out a few miles to a desirable camping place to spend the night.

We'd pile up pine straw or leaves, put quilts on this improvised bed, and sleep in the open or under the wagon.

Early the next morning, at least by daybreak, we would have the team fed and hitched up and be on our way home, arriving there towards the middle of the afternoon if everything went well.

My father made the long, hard, 20-mile trip to market from his farm in the interior of Jasper County only when necessary.

In the fall we hauled cotton to market and in the spring commercial fertilizer was bought and hauled to the farm in wagons.

With all these many wagons in use, the wagon business was big business.

When I first went into business in Picaune, 62 years ago, wagons accounted for more volume of business than anything else we sold.

We bought them by the carload, getting 35 to 40 wagons at a time, and getting several carloads per year for several years.

Wagon supplies, harnesses, etc., were another important part of our business.

We bought skains, boxes, spokes, felloes, hubs, rivets, tire balls, etc. to sell to the wagon repairmen in this area.

Practically every community, back in the old days, had at least one blacksmith shop.

The old time blacksmith was usually what you could call a combination mechanic in addition to other work.

He would repair and rebuild wagon wheels with the materials bought at the stores in town or shipped in from some supply company in the city.

The steel tires were made from bars of iron the right width and the right thickness.

The tires were usually anywhere from 1 1/2 to 4 inches wide.

Great skill was required to cut the iron the right length and then heat it and weld it just right so that when attached to the wheel it would shrink to just the right degree to make it fit tight on the wheel. Holes would be drilled in the tire at regular intervals so that the tire bolts could tie the tire to the wheel.

In and around Picaune there were several wagon repairmen and wheelwrights. Another very important and technical job requiring great skill was to give disk to make them strong and lasting.

Back before my time, local mechanics made the whole wagon from materials they went into the woods and cut and cured.

Wagons back in the old days hauled practically everything. These old time wagons must have been strong and sturdy to be used on the rough roads of those days. My father used a wagon constantly for many years.

Wagons were also the only means of transporting goods to country stores. The old Columbia to Gainesville road back before 1885 was a busy highway with frequent wagons passing through.

Wagons hauled freight from Gainesville right through where Picaune now is on up to as far as Columbia and Monticello.

The hauling business back then was big business. As many as three or four yokes of oxen or two or three pair of horses would be used to pull a heavily loaded wagon.

When the going was easy the driver of the team would ride on the wagon, but when going up hill or over rough roads the driver often walked, to make the load lighter and also because he could better handle the team.

While there are no figures available on the volume of freight hauled on wagons in this area, Natchez, a small town back then, in the one year of 1822, unloaded 1081 wagons and paid freight charges of $90,000.

This gives some idea of how big a business was done by the old time wagons.

When I first went into business in 1919, there was a lot behind the store with stables for horses and a trough where horses could be watered, and they were often hitched and fed there.

I well remember what pride of ownership many men had in their horses or teams.

Mr. John Jeff Stewart, now deceased, who lived at Cybur, had the prettiest pair of matched speckled mules I ever saw. They were perfect specimens, and how proud he was of this team of mules.

Many other men had fine teams and took great pride in their saddle or buggy horses. These animals were often great pets with whole families. My father had a big yellow saddle horse named "Dan" that was the pet of our whole family.

One big advantage of the horse over the car is that you could make a pet of a horse. Another is that he never got stuck or ran out of fuel. He always got you back home and sound.

On a dark night you could give him the rein and he would unerringly bring you home safe and sound. I've never heard of one running in the ditch. And, a horse was not nearly so expensive as even the cheapest car or truck.

Q. How can I cut my grocery bill?

A. Save 10% to 40% with No-FRILLS!

Q. What are No-FRILLS products?

A. No-FRILLS is our name for plain-label, non-branded products that cost 10 to 40 per cent less than comparable nationally advertised brands. We stock a wide selection of basic items that you buy often and use plenty of.

Q. Why do No-FRILLS products cost less?

A. Because No-FRILLS products are 'standard' rather than 'fancy' grade items packaged in plain black and white and produced in a limited number of varieties and sizes. Some items may not be available at all times. By eliminating colorful labels, fancy containers, and other unnecessary frills and by avoiding the cost of expensive national advertising, we can sell them for less. With No-FRILLS you're not paying for a brand name.

Q. How are No-FRILLS products different from brand names?

A. No-FRILLS grocery items are nutritious, good tasting, and just as wholesome as higher priced branded products. But they are 'everyday' rather than 'Sunday' quality—peach halves that are not the same size, beans that may be broken. No-FRILLS household products are not scented and don't come in fancy containers. Paper products are not double-ply and not available in fancy patterns or colors. But they get the job done.

Q. Are No-FRILLS products always cheaper?

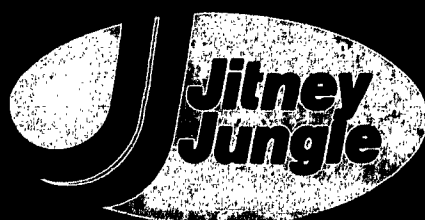

A. On an everyday basis, No-FRILLS products are priced 10 to 40 per cent below national brands. Of course, when brand names are offered as 'specials' they may be temporarily priced even lower. But for the lowest consistent prices — for dependable savings you can count on week after week — thrifty shoppers count on No-FRILLS.

Q. What if I try No-FRILLS and am not satisfied?

A. With No-FRILLS products, like everything we sell, our policy is satisfaction or your money back. Why not see what No-FRILLS will do for your budget?
